SANT'ANNA DISSERTATIONS

Dec 2019 Do your parents hold a degree?

A research on the impact of postgraduate selection processes - such as internships - on reproducing income inequalities rather than capturing competence and fitness to the job. Based on data collected by Istat.

Supervisor: Prof. Giuseppe RAGUSA

May 2017 Wages and unemployment

A brief review of the empirical literature on the effects wage changes have on unemployment rate, and vice versa. Further focus is on wage rigidities.

Supervisor: Prof. Andrea ROVENTINI

May 2016 Evolutionary game theory

This work aimed to use the mathematical methods of replicator dynamics in order to evaluate how taxation and incentives have an effect on formal and informal market. The analysis is both on demand and supply side.
